PRODUCT

CAN DO. WILL DO.

Booth's Logistics is proud to announce that our operations are now Toitū carbonreduce certified. This marks another practical step on our sustainability journey.

Toitū helps Kiwi businesses measure greenhouse gas emissions and put in place real, verifiable reduction plans. Certification shows we're committed to ongoing, science-aligned emissions reductions, not one-off claims.

We worked through a rigorous review of everything that touches our carbon footprint, including vehicle fuel, electricity, travel, waste and more. With Toitū's guidance we produced a verified carbon footprint, and a clear, year-on-year emissions reduction plan.

Why it matters

Transport is a major contributor to New Zealand's emissions. As a nationwide logistics partner, we want to lead by example and make a difference where it counts. Our certification is ISO 14064-1 compliant and independently audited for transparency and accountability.

Our customers win

Our customers can transport freight with confidence, knowing they're partnering with a team actively reducing its environmental impact. Sustainability is part of the service we provide. Whether a load moves across town or across the country, our Toitū certification is another way we deliver reliable, responsible service.

Looking ahead

This certification is an important milestone, not the finish line. We'll keep investing in practical, low-emission solutions that benefit our customers, our people and the communities we serve. Expect continued trials and rollouts that reduce emissions and keep your supply chain moving.

As family-owned freight and logistics company, we know that reducing our carbon emissions benefits not only our business and customers, but New Zealand as a whole.

If you want to talk about how our Toitū certification supports your sustainability goals, get in touch for more information.
